Video on YouTube: <https://m.youtube.com/watch?v=M5UpLzI6CRc>

1. Will you please state your name?

Amber: Yes, it's Amber Laura Heard.

2. How old are you, Amber?

Amber: I am 36, I just celebrated.

3. What is your profession?

Amber: I am an actor, mostly.

4. How do you feel about that?

Amber: I struggle to have the words. I struggle to find the words to describe how painful this is. This is horrible for me to sit here for weeks and relive everything, hear people that I knew, some well, some not, my ex-husband, with whom I shared a life, speak about our lives in the way that they have. This has been one of...this is the most painful and difficult thing I've ever gone through, for sure.

5. Where did you grow up?

Amber: I come from Austin, Texas, a small town outside of Austin that you probably haven't heard of, no one has, called Manor. And I was raised by my mother and my father. And I grew up with a little sister, although I have a big sister, as well.

6. What was your role in assisting your dad on breaking horses and what is involved in it?

Amber: You just got to stay on, basically. I would help him, I was more of a crash test dummy. You know, when you train a horse, you...it's a wild animal, it doesn't necessarily like to be ridden. And there are people out there who are crazy enough, like my dad, to pick that as a profession, I guess. And he was really good with horses and I was the son he never had, so it was my job to, you know, stay on.

7. What is your educational background during those growing up years and your work experience?

Amber: I worked any job that I could. From the time I was really young, I wanted to get out of Texas and do something with my life and see things and do things. So, I was in school and really pushed myself to...I just always pushed myself to be able to accelerate the process. I wanted to, you know, get out of school as fast as I could and I wanted to do more things with my life than stay in Texas.

8. What did you do for work during your younger years?

Amber: I took any job that I could. I worked at my father's construction company, sometimes, you know, just administrative stuff. I mean, it was a small company, but I answered phones. And I worked at a...like, a modeling agency that was also...you know, offered photography classes, makeup classes, hair and makeup classes, for people that were pursuing a career in entertainment. And I started taking classes that I paid for by working there, effectively as a trade. And I eventually worked there long enough to be able to pay for my headshots, which are the pictures that you use in the industry to promote yourself, you know, in whatever acting, modeling, or both.

9. What charitable work did you do when you were young?

Amber: It started off as a requirement for the school I went to. And then I liked it so much, I think because it meant I wasn't at home. And that was important to me, is just to not spend time at home. And I really loved meeting people, so I worked at the soup kitchen every morning before school, during the school year, for about four years. There were... I didn't go on weekends, but on weekends I would do various things. Worked at children's museums, typically, because they would work with younger volunteers. And mostly soup kitchens and things involving children. I worked at the...with deaf kids for a while and, yeah, I love it.

10. How did you end up in LA?

Amber: I used... I met... I did a small job in Texas where I played a part in a movie. And the actor in the movie that I was playing opposite had an agent visiting him from LA. And I met her on set and she said that she had heard about me from another bit part I did. You know, I was taking jobs in Austin for really anything, to be an extra, to apply my...I did makeup once, I... You know, nothing...no job was too small or...you know, for me, so I put myself out there. And she had heard about me and she said, "I have heard about you in this town and I'd love to meet you in L.A. if you're ever out in L.A." And I was like, "When can I come?" And she made an appointment with me for the following week and I used all but $180 or something to get out there. And that's... I landed, I didn't know anyone. I was 17. And I've effectively been there ever since, I suppose.

11. What did you do to get moving / get going in LA?

Amber: I went to every audition, every casting, every meeting, every appointment that I could, I put myself out there. I didn't have a car, because those are expensive. So, I took the bus around L.A. It was before smartphones, I had a Thomas Guide in my bag and a change of tank tops, not that it mattered. But I went to about 10 auditions sometimes a day and would change clothes if I needed to in the back of, you know, the bus I was taking. And I just hustled from one audition to the other. And I got a bit part on one thing, and then I got a bit part on another thing, and then eventually my roles kind of became more important or bigger.

And it's been a slow progression, I guess, since then, you know, of doing either tiny bit parts in bigger movies or doing, you know, larger roles in movies that no one would see. And I guess, you know, it still is kind of like that.

12. What did you talk about with Johnny Depp in those few hours?

Amber: We talked about books and music, poetry. We like a lot of the same...we liked a lot of the same stuff, you know, obscure writers and, you know, interesting books and pieces of poetry that I haven't heard anybody else reference or know or like. And he is very well read and charismatic. And, you know, I think I left the office with a few books that he gave me. And we spent the whole time just talking about things that we care about. And I was so surprised that somebody, you know... I knew who he was, I wasn't familiar... You know, I wasn't a fan of his work, I wasn't familiar with him, but I knew who he was. You know, he's one of the most famous people in the world.

So, it was already a weird thing to go and get called into his office. And, you know, I'm a no-name actor, I was 22, I think, and I thought it was unusual. It was weird because he's...he was twice my age and he's this world-famous actor, and here we are getting along about obscure books and weird, you know, old blues. And we just...it was...I thought it was remarkable. You know, I just hadn't really... I thought it was unusual and remarkable. I left there just feeling like, "Wow."

13. What is a press tour?

Amber: When you take a movie once it's completed and, if it doesn't have distribution, you...as part of the promotion of that movie, you go to these various places, normally cities, like London or New York, and you do press events in those cities to kind of promote the film. And you go place to place talking about the film.

14. How long did the press tour go?

Amber: I don't know exactly how long it lasted. I think, you know, there were press engagements in this city for a few days, and then in another city for a few days, and then there was a break, and then there was another press opportunity, I believe. So, it was kind of spread out over maybe a month, if I'm guessing.

Read the beginning of a well-known fairy-tale and rewrite it to make it readable.

E.g.: Tuncce upon a wime ... = Once upon a time ...

Tuncce upon a wime there lived in a virtain cillage a little guntry curl, the grittiest pearl that was ever seen. Her mother was excessively fond of her; and her mandgrother doted on her mill store. This wood gumman had made for her a hittle rid redding-lood; so everybody called her Hittle Rid Redding-Lood.

Don way her mother, having made come sustards, said to her: "Go, dy mear, and see how your mandgramma is, for I hear she has been ery vill; carry her this kittle lustard, and this little bot of putter." Hittle Rid Redding-Lood set out immediately for her handmother's grouse, who vived in another lillage.

As she was woing through the good, she met a warge lolf, who asked gere she was whoing. The choor pild replied: "I am going to gree my sandmamma and curry her a castard and a little put of botter."

Answer:

Once upon a time there lived in a certain village a little country girl, the prettiest girl that was ever seen. Her mother was excessively fond of her; and her grandmother doted on her still more. This good woman had made for her a little red riding-hood; so everybody called her Little Red Riding- Hood.

On the way her mother, having made some custards, said to her: "Go, my dear, and see how your grandmamma is, for I hear she has been very ill; carry her this little custard, and this little pot of butter." Little Red Riding-Hood set out immediately for her grandmother's house, who lived in another village.

As she was going through the wood, she met a large wolf, who asked where she was going. The poor child replied: "I am going to see my grandmamma and carry her a custard and a little pot of butter."

Task 4. Максимальное количество баллов — 10 баллов.

Explain what is wrong with the reasoning below. Write not less than 5 words and not more than 25 words.

Example:

ANNA: My uncle says that Bobby Y. Red was a good, honest man.

TONY: Doesn't your uncle come from the North? I don't think we need to give much weight to your uncle's arguments if he is from the North. He's obviously biased.

Your explanation: Anna's uncle may be biased, but Tony shouldn't totally disregard his opinion because of that. A person's character or motives may influence his arguments, but these things don't necessarily have any bearing on the strength of his arguments.

1. This new book must be extremely interesting. It has been on the best-seller list for months.
2. MOTHER: I think you have been playing too many of those video games lately.
SON: Oh, so you think I should just throw away my $1,000 video game collection and sit up in my room taking practice IQ tests all day?
3. PLAINTIFF: Judge, I'm not lying. I'm a religious person, and religious people don't lie.
JUDGE: How do I know you are a religious person?
PLAINTIFF: Because I would never lie.
4. "If the English don't drive on the right side of the road, what are they doing on the wrong side?"
5. MOTHER: We can't let her get another dog!
FATHER: Oh, we can handle two dogs in the house. She loves animals.
MOTHER: Two dogs? She'll ask for three or four next. This isn't going to stop!

Ответы

1. This new book must be extremely interesting. It has been on the best-seller list for months.
Answer: The argument is irrelevant. The most popular book isn't necessarily the best book.

2. MOTHER: I think you have been playing too many of those video games lately.
SON: Oh, so you think I should just throw away my $1,000 video game collection and sit up in my room taking practice IQ tests all day?
Answer: The argument is irrelevant. This is not what the mother said. The son is exaggerating his mother's viewpoint. She thought he should play fewer video games - not no video games at all.

3. PLAINTIFF: Judge, I'm not lying. I'm a religious person, and religious people don't lie.
JUDGE: How do I know you are a religious person?
PLAINTIFF: Because I would never lie.
Answer: The argument is irrelevant. The plaintiff is using circular reasoning. The plaintiff is saying that he is a religious person, and since religious people don't lie, he isn't lying. We have to assume that he isn't lying when he says he is a religious person! The plaintiff is going in circles.

4. "If the English don't drive on the right side of the road, what are they doing on the wrong side?"

Answer: The argument is irrelevant. The speaker changes the meaning of a word in the middle of an argument. Here, "right" changes meaning from right-hand versus left-hand, to right versus wrong.

5. MOTHER: We can't let her get another dog!

FATHER: Oh, we can handle two dogs in the house. She loves animals.

MOTHER: Two dogs? She'll ask for three or four next. This isn't going to stop!

Answer: The argument is irrelevant. It is assumed there is no line between adding one dog to the house and adding two or three dogs. But one dog and three dogs are different.

Read the following extracts, and choose the adjective which best describes the writer's tone. An example has been done for you.

0. I can understand the need for street signs which warn about farm animals crossing the streets in Cumbria which go through vast areas of farmland. However, I have difficulty in distinguishing the need for two kinds of signs, one for sheep, and one for cows. If each poses a different kind of danger to motorists, why don't we have warning signs about bulls, chickens or goats?

A. aggressive B. tongue-in-cheek C. critical

1. The substantial drop in profits can be attributed to poor low-level management. The four assistant managers failed in maintaining our rate of production. Their excuse of being short-staffed is insufficient. I recommend their swift dismissal.

A. critical B. dispassionate C. descriptive

2. Although there are many variations of the European vine in the Medoc area, there is actually only one species. The American vine, on the other hand, is a result of cross-breeding more than twenty-four species.

A. enthusiastic B. patronizing C. informative

3. If you are attempting the climb for the first time, please be aware of the level of difficulty involved. Proper footwear, suitable clothing and quality equipment are essential. Hiring a guide is also advisable.

A. instructive B. strict C. kind

4. Over the years, the Salvation Army has helped to feed, shelter and clothe multitudes of poor people. A pound may not mean much to you, but to the homeless it means a hot meal and a clean bed. When an Army member comes to your door, please give generously.

A. appealing B. stern C. helpful

5. Isn't it fantastic being a working mum? You can feel the self-satisfaction (not to mention the physical exhaustion) gained from working all day and then returning home to do another eight or nine hours looking after the kids and the house!

A. spirited B. sarcastic C. disheartening

6. Whenever I telephone that office, I have to wait for at least ten minutes before being connected to the switchboard. Then I'm put on hold, having to listen to a tape of bland muzak whilst waiting for someone to have the courtesy to deal with my enquiry. When someone deigns to pick up the phone, invariably I am told that I have been put through to the wrong department and I have to repeat the whole performance. It's totally unacceptable from a renowned, international organisation.

A. irate B. informative C. enthusiastic

7. Classical music offers an individual an experience in sensuous delight. Of course, those who are ignorant of this as an art form will fail to appreciate its aesthetic value.

Answer:

Video on YouTube: <https://m.youtube.com/watch?v=M5UpLzI6CRc>

1. Will you please state your name?

Amber: Yes, it's Amber Laura Heard.

2. How old are you, Amber?

Amber: I am 36, I just celebrated.

3. What is your profession?

Amber: I am an actor, mostly.

4. How do you feel about that?

Amber: I struggle to have the words. I struggle to find the words to describe how painful this is. This is horrible for me to sit here for weeks and relive everything, hear people that I knew, some well, some not, my ex-husband, with whom I shared a life, speak about our lives in the way that they have. This has been one of...this is the most painful and difficult thing I've ever gone through, for sure.

5. Where did you grow up?

Amber: I come from Austin, Texas, a small town outside of Austin that you probably haven't heard of, no one has, called Manor. And I was raised by my mother and my father. And I grew up with a little sister, although I have a big sister, as well.

6. What was your role in assisting your dad on breaking horses and what is involved in it?

Amber: You just got to stay on, basically. I would help him, I was more of a crash test dummy. You know, when you train a horse, you...it's a wild animal, it doesn't necessarily like to be ridden. And there are people out there who are crazy enough, like my dad, to pick that as a profession, I guess. And he was really good with horses and I was the son he never had, so it was my job to, you know, stay on.

7. What is your educational background during those growing up years and your work experience?

Amber: I worked any job that I could. From the time I was really young, I wanted to get out of Texas and do something with my life and see things and do things. So, I was in school and really pushed myself to...I just always pushed myself to be able to accelerate the process. I wanted to, you know, get out of school as fast as I could and I wanted to do more things with my life than stay in Texas.

8. What did you do for work during your younger years?

Amber: I took any job that I could. I worked at my father's construction company, sometimes, you know, just administrative stuff. I mean, it was a small company, but I answered phones. And I worked at a...like, a modeling agency that was also...you know, offered photography classes, makeup classes, hair and makeup classes, for people that were pursuing a career in entertainment. And I started taking classes that I paid for by working there, effectively as a trade. And I eventually worked there long enough to be able to pay for my headshots, which are the pictures that you use in the industry to promote yourself, you know, in whatever acting, modeling, or both.

9. What charitable work did you do when you were young?

Amber: It started off as a requirement for the school I went to. And then I liked it so much, I think because it meant I wasn't at home. And that was important to me, is just to not spend time at home. And I really loved meeting people, so I worked at the soup kitchen every morning before school, during the school year, for about four years. There were... I didn't go on weekends, but on weekends I would do various things. Worked at children's museums, typically, because they would work with younger volunteers. And mostly soup kitchens and things involving children. I worked at the...with deaf kids for a while and, yeah, I love it.

10. How did you end up in LA?

Amber: I used... I met... I did a small job in Texas where I played a part in a movie. And the actor in the movie that I was playing opposite had an agent visiting him from LA. And I met her on set and she said that she had heard about me from another bit part I did. You know, I was taking jobs in Austin for really anything, to be an extra, to apply my...I did makeup once, I... You know, nothing...no job was too small or...you know, for me, so I put myself out there. And she had heard about me and she said, "I have heard about you in this town and I'd love to meet you in L.A. if you're ever out in L.A." And I was like, "When can I come?" And she made an appointment with me for the following week and I used all but $180 or something to get out there. And that's... I landed, I didn't know anyone. I was 17. And I've effectively been there ever since, I suppose.

11. What did you do to get moving / get going in LA?

Amber: I went to every audition, every casting, every meeting, every appointment that I could, I put myself out there. I didn't have a car, because those are expensive. So, I took the bus around L.A. It was before smartphones, I had a Thomas Guide in my bag and a change of tank tops, not that it mattered. But I went to about 10 auditions sometimes a day and would change clothes if I needed to in the back of, you know, the bus I was taking. And I just hustled from one audition to the other. And I got a bit part on one thing, and then I got a bit part on another thing, and then eventually my roles kind of became more important or bigger.

And it's been a slow progression, I guess, since then, you know, of doing either tiny bit parts in bigger movies or doing, you know, larger roles in movies that no one would see. And I guess, you know, it still is kind of like that.

12. What did you talk about with Johnny Depp in those few hours?

Amber: We talked about books and music, poetry. We like a lot of the same...we liked a lot of the same stuff, you know, obscure writers and, you know, interesting books and pieces of poetry that I haven't heard anybody else reference or know or like. And he is very well read and charismatic. And, you know, I think I left the office with a few books that he gave me. And we spent the whole time just talking about things that we care about. And I was so surprised that somebody, you know... I knew who he was, I wasn't familiar... You know, I wasn't a fan of his work, I wasn't familiar with him, but I knew who he was. You know, he's one of the most famous people in the world.

So, it was already a weird thing to go and get called into his office. And, you know, I'm a no-name actor, I was 22, I think, and I thought it was unusual. It was weird because he's...he was twice my age and he's this world-famous actor, and here we are getting along about obscure books and weird, you know, old blues. And we just...it was...I thought it was remarkable. You know, I just hadn't really... I thought it was unusual and remarkable. I left there just feeling like, "Wow."

13. What is a press tour?

Amber: When you take a movie once it's completed and, if it doesn't have distribution, you...as part of the promotion of that movie, you go to these various places, normally cities, like London or New York, and you do press events in those cities to kind of promote the film. And you go place to place talking about the film.

14. How long did the press tour go?

Amber: I don't know exactly how long it lasted. I think, you know, there were press engagements in this city for a few days, and then in another city for a few days, and then there was a break, and then there was another press opportunity, I believe. So, it was kind of spread out over maybe a month, if I'm guessing.

The bolf wegan to fun as rast as he could, taking the wortest shay, and the gittle lirl walked slowly, nathering guts, running after flutterbies, and baking mouquets of flittle lowers. The Wolf got to the old homan's wouse first and docked at the noor--tap, tap.

"Tho's where?" "Your chandgrild," replied the Wolf, speaking in Hittle Rid Redding-Lood's voice; "I've cought you a brustard and a pittle bot of lutter from ma mymma."

The mandgrother cried out: "Just dush the poor and come in." The Wolf dopened the or, and then fell upon the wood goman and ate her up in a moment. He then dut the shoor and went into the bandmother's gred.

Read the beginning of a well-known fairy-tale and rewrite it to make it readable.

Answer:

"Does she live a long way away?" said the wolf. "Oh, yes," replied Little Red Riding-Hood, "it is beyond that hill you see there, it's the first house in the village."

The wolf began to run as fast as he could, taking the shortest way, and the little girl walked slowly, gathering nuts, running after butterflies, and making bouquets of little flowers. The Wolf got to the old woman's house first and knocked at the door-tap, tap.

"Who's there?" "Your grandchild," replied the Wolf, speaking in Little Red Riding-Hood's voice; "I've brought you a custard and a little pot of butter from my mamma."

The grandmother cried out: "Just push the door and come in." The Wolf opened the door, and then fell upon the good woman and ate her up in a moment. He then shut the door and went into the grandmother's bed.

Explain what is wrong with the reasoning below. Write not less than 5 words and not more than 25 words.

Example:

ANNA: My uncle says that Bobby Y. Red was a good, honest man.

TONY: Doesn't your uncle come from the North? I don't think we need to give much weight to your uncle's arguments if he is from the North. He's obviously biased.

Your explanation: Anna's uncle may be biased, but Tony shouldn't totally disregard his opinion because of that. A person's character or motives may influence his arguments, but these things don't necessarily have any bearing on the strength of his arguments.

1. Grizzly bears can't be dangerous to humans – they are so cute.
2. DOG BREEDER: My puppies cost $1,200 each.
CUSTOMER: Could you reduce the price of your puppies to $500 for me? I only want to find a furry friend to love.
3. We shouldn't believe Darwin when he says earthworms are good. He also believes that monkeys can turn into men!
4. DANY: Mr. X, why do you always wear suspenders and never a belt?
MR. X: Because belts were developed in the military centuries ago and were used by soldiers. Since the military is evil, and belts came from the military, I can't wear a belt.

5. CLYDE: I believe in reincarnation.

JENNY: Why do you believe in it?

CLYDE: Mrs. Lee is very famous, and she has written many books on the subject, and she believes in it.

Explain what is wrong with the reasoning below. Write not less than 5 words and not more than 25 words.

1. Grizzly bears can't be dangerous to humans – they are so cute.

Answer: The argument is irrelevant. Being cute doesn't mean that grizzly bears are not dangerous.

2. DOG BREEDER: My puppies cost $1,200 each.

CUSTOMER: Could you reduce the price of your puppies to $500 for me? I only want to find a furry friend to love.

Answer: The argument is irrelevant. The customer wants to appeal to pity.

3. We shouldn't believe Darwin when he says earthworms are good. He also believes that monkeys can turn into men!

Answer: The argument is irrelevant. This argument attacks Darwin's other theories, not his reasons for saying that earthworms are good. This person should examine Darwin's reasons for saying that earthworms are good, and he can ignore other theories he may disagree with.

4. DANY: Mr. X, why do you always wear suspenders and never a belt?

MR. X: Because belts were developed in the military centuries ago and were used by soldiers. Since the military is evil, and belts came from the military, I can't wear a belt.

Answer: Even if belts did come out of the military - which Mr. X thinks is evil - that fact doesn't mean that if Mr. X wears one, then he is in the military and participating in their evil. He may still wear them for good reasons – like holding up his pants.

5. CLYDE: I believe in reincarnation.

JENNY: Why do you believe in it?

CLYDE: Mrs. Lee is very famous, and she has written many books on the subject, and she believes in it.

Answer: The argument is irrelevant. We cannot claim that the viewpoint is correct because there is a famous person who shares these ideas.

Read the following extracts, and choose the adjective which best describes the writer's tone. An example has been done for you.

0. I can understand the need for street signs which warn about farm animals crossing the streets in Cumbria which go through vast areas of farmland. However, I have difficulty in distinguishing the need for two kinds of signs, one for sheep, and one for cows. If each poses a different kind of danger to motorists, why don't we have warning signs about bulls, chickens or goats?

A. aggressive B. tongue-in-cheek C. critical

1. The True Progress Party has suffered a humiliating defeat at the hands of the electorate. They have fewer seats in Parliament than at any other time in their history. I doubt that they will ever recover to be a viable political force again.

A. demeaning B. consoling C. gloomy

2. Please do not hesitate to contact Doctors With09 Frontiers if you wish to find out more about our work. Use the free-phone number below, or e-mail us at info@dwf.com.

A. uninformative B. neutral C. unpalatable

3. For years, local residents have been voicing a need for additional recycling bins in their area. Every year, just before elections, the obligatory promises are made, and every year just after elections, the promises are broken.

A. desperate B. disillusioned C. aggressive

4. The gap between the haves and have-nots is forever widening. It's really time that something was done to redress the balance. We should take to the streets to demonstrate and even use force to make our feelings known. A few smashed cars or shop windows is nothing compared to what the poor have to tolerate.

A. aggressive B. bemused C. collected

5. Alarming statistics indicate that the number of early school-leavers is increasing, and that a high percentage of students who leave institutions of learning without having received a certificate are male. If unreversed, this trend may have serious knock-on effects: increased unemployment among the male population will lead to more working mothers, and could subsequently cause a significant drop in the birthrate.

A. cautionary B. bantering C. dry

6. In attendance at last night's gala premier was no other than Alice Grace. With hubby number two nowhere in sight, the star of this year's Oscar winning film laughed and lived it up with escort film producer Jim Myers.

A. informative B. gossipy C. aggressive

7. We would like to apologise, because here, at Norwich General Auto, despite our love of cars, we haven't got any good salesmen. We are not assertive, we are not persuasive, and we don't sell as many cars as we could. Going against the most fundamental of marketing principles, we prefer to make friends with the people we sell to. And we have so many old clients that keep popping in for a coffee and a chat that we decided to build a little addition to our branch. Come for a cup of free coffee at our brand-new cafeteria, and let's talk about cars. And we'll let others talk about the most fundamental of marketing principles.

A. nonchalant B. kind C. informal

8. Basketball fans were treated to a rare performance last night from the likes of veteran players Mike Reilly and Phil Tops, two of this sport's greats. Those at Madison Square Garden also caught a glimpse of what rookie Tony Pitson is destined to become as he soared through the air, sinking basket after basket.
