A strange man

Purcell was a small man. He owned a pet shop. He sold cats, dogs, monkeys and birds. Each morning when he completed the routine of opening his shop, he sat down on a high stool behind the counter and read a morning newspaper.

It was a cold rainy day. Mr. Purcell was reading a newspaper as usual when a customer appeared in the shop and said that he wanted something in a cage. "Something in a cage?" Mr. Purcell was a bit confused. "Do you mean some sort of pet?"

“I mean what I said!” answered the man. “Something in a cage. Something alive that is in a cage.”

“I see,” said the shopkeeper not sure that he did.

He started to offer different pets, but it seemed that the price was too big for the customer. At last, he decided to have two white doves for five dollars. Mr. Purcell handed the cage to him.

“Listen,” the man said suddenly. “How long do you think it took me to make those five dollars?”

Mr. Purcell was in a state of panic, but he asked, “Why, how long?”

The customer laughed. “Ten years! I’ve spent ten years in jail. Ten years! Fifty cents a year!”

He took the cage and left the shop. Mr. Purcell came up to the shop window to look at the customer who was holding the cage and took the birds out. Soon they disappeared in the grey sky.
