Task 1

Recording 1

Woman: Good evening, Mr Harper. Did you have an enjoyable morning?

Mr Harper: Yes – it's been alright, I suppose. I've just been to the museum.

Woman: Didn't you enjoy it? Most of our guests go there, and they always tell me it's well worth the money.

Mr Harper: Well, the Egyptian statues were fantastic. But the Roman section was closed, and I really wanted to see it!

Woman: Oh that's unusual. Why was it closed?

Mr Harper: They're adding a new exhibit. Unfortunately, I only found out after I went in! After I paid the entrance fee!

Woman: That's not right. They should have a notice explaining that part of the museum is closed.

Mr Harper: They should but they didn't. Anyway, I'm going up to my room for a while. Do you have my key?

Woman: Here you are, Mr Harper.

Recording 2

Hello, everybody. Before we enter the museum, please listen carefully to what I have to say. Firstly, while photography is permitted, the use of flash photography is strictly forbidden. The museum also has a rule against eating, but drinking is allowed. Most importantly, do not touch any of the exhibits as they are extremely fragile. Now everyone, please take one of these handouts. It contains a map of the museum showing the location of the artefacts you must cover in your projects. You have three hours to look through the museum. Does anybody have any questions?

Task 2

Good morning. My name is Harry Wright and I'm the editor of the Newberry Herald, Newberry's number one daily newspaper. Right now, we're looking for a local teenager to fill a very exciting position at our newspaper. We require someone aged 14-18 to write articles about teen life in Newberry. Each Wednesday, one 400-word article will be published in the culture section of the newspaper. Although you will be the only writer of the articles, you will work closely with senior writers in the newspaper who will continually give you advice and instructions.

The articles can be about three main topics. Firstly, you can write about education – for instance how teens in Newberry cope with exam pressure. Also, we'd like articles about entertainment, like what films or books teens in Newberry are interested in today. And lastly, you can write about sports and hobbies. For instance, we'd like to find out what teens think of the sports facilities in Newberry and what improvements could be made to them.

If you have good writing skills and feel you could write about the above topics, then we'd love to hear from you. To apply, please send your CV and a cover letter explaining why you think you'd be a suitable candidate for the job to our human resources department. Our address is The Newberry Herald, 45 Trimpton Street, that's spelled T-R-I-M-P-T-O-N, Street, Newberry 5PL 7JR.

The closing date for applications will be Monday the 6th January. Applications arriving after that date will not be accepted. We will then call a select group of candidates for an interview on Saturday 18th January. Then, the selected candidate should be free for a training day on Saturday 25th January. Wages for the job will be £70 per article.

If you have any questions about the job we'll be glad to hear from you. You can either telephone us on 0163 55934 or email us at hr@newberryherald.com.
