TOP 7 PERSONALITY STYLES THAT DEFINE CHARACTERS

There are seven personality styles that define everyone's character through clothes. Each style shows the characteristics of the person that wears the clothes related to the style. And also there are 49 sub-styles by mixing these seven styles. You can identify what is your current style and what are your characteristics. Most of the women attempt to choose these styles of fashion for different reasons. For example, wearing classical clothes to look thinner and thus taller.

There are so many varieties of these styles according to the person's location, culture, and adaptation to each part of their lifestyle.

A. Classic style personality

A classic style personality is always dressed elegantly and appropriately for any occasion and will always change for the better. Your personality and image ties with each other. You are a somewhat traditional and organized person and your appearance supports the feeling of a calm and confident personality. You are not looking for high fashion or bargaining. It makes you want to shop for quality items that prove to be an investment in your classic wardrobe. Timely low and elegant pieces beautifully cut from clean lines. The classic style of personality carries the image of someone who is dependable and practical.

- Personality: trustworthy, responsible, moderate, clear thinking and practical.
- Celebrities with this Style: Kate Middleton, Ann Hathaway, Jodie Foster, Blake Lively, Naomie Harris, Natalie Portman
- Typical Occupations: business and professional positions, politics, lawyer, private education and real estate.

This style projects an image of elegance, modernity, confidence, maturity, seriousness and intelligence, making it look monotonous and bossy sometimes.

B. Elegant style personality

These women are naturally elegant because of their flawlessly dress. Elegant style is more modern than the classic style and also formal. Therefore, the outfits follow the classically tailored designs. This style refers to the successful, refined, intelligent, splendid, secure and fancy image. Most of the women of this style are likely to be 35+ years of age. The time when this style is most powerful is when the wearer's occasion or situation demands a formal or elegant dress. The look instantly enhances the stance and reputation of the wearer and that may be its only downside.

- Personality: confident, self-assured, reserved.
- Celebrities with this Style: Cate Blanchett, Nicole Kidman, Princess Mary of Denmark, Helen Mirren, Audrey Hepburn, Kate Winslet.
- Typical Occupations: CEOs, corporate lawyers, judges, dignitaries, heads of State, Politicians, Event planners.

For items 18-24, read the text and choose the best answer for the questions below

COLOURS OF THE CLOTHES THAT DEFINE PERSONAL CHARACTER

Clothing colours bring out different emotions and one colour can reveal many moods. When combining more colours it can lead to change in the mood.

RED

It is a famous fact that people are tempted to gamble and take risks under red lights. If you are attracted to the colours of red clothes, it means that you are totally motivated to live outdoor activities, passion, energy and personality.

People who like red dresses are aggressive, energetic and quick to release their emotions. And also a person who is quick to judge people and express his views is shown in red.

ORANGE

If you like or you wear an orange colour, you are a social person who is often well-liked and easy to befriend. Orange is always a warm and opportunistic colour and in addition. Also, it is cheerful, creative and engaging. People who like to dress in orange are optimistic, energetic, happy and eager to change. Although they are a bit rough, they can be ambitious and intelligent.

Such personalities tend to party well, eat well and live well. So they are very concerned about their social status, reputation and financial status.

BLUE

The colour of blue clothing symbolizes freshness, peace and loyalty. Sometimes these personalities, especially men, are magical and satirical. Women who like blue dress colours often prefer to portray a mystical atmosphere. When attending a job interview, choose navy blue to show that you are 'in control' while being calm, truthful, confident and safe.

Blue dresses are often chosen by kind, compassionate, polite and shy people. According to psychologists, the 'blue' person will become a wonderful parent or role model. And also calmness and balance are two common characteristics of this type of person.

YELLOW

The colour of yellow clothes indicates a well-focused mind. Bitter personality types behave differently but are not shy. It is difficult to deceive such people. Logical and consistent are two nouns that go hand in hand with the yellow personality type. Therefore, wearing bright colours like yellow could be an indicator of an extroverted personality. The yellow colour increases concentration and attention.

PURPLE

Purple was used only by royalty in ancient times. Today they show a personality with a great love of art, creativity and imagination. Such people also tend to gain a deeper understanding. They can be interesting but impulsive.

According to specialists, people dressed in purple are emotional and sensitive. They are dreamy, passionate and love occultism. Therefore, these people are known to be unpredictable and dealing with them can be both easy and difficult at the same time.

BLACK

Black is a good dress colour choice for an interview and it shows authority. The special play recommends using it as an accent like a scarf or tie rather than the main dress colour. Black is considered by others to be an indicator of fame, power, seriousness, and intelligence. So, the degree covers of most European universities are black.

People who like to wear black are ambitious, purposeful and sensitive. Black helps to focus on the personality of their appearance as the inner qualities of a person are most important to them.

GRAY

As the designers say, gray is the colour of balance and is neither dark nor bright. If a person has a large amount of grey clothing, it means that they want to be invisible. Gray and its shades symbolize serenity, dignity and maturity. Most middle-aged men are dressed in grey suits and older women prefer wearing grey dresses.

BROWN

The brown colour is the colour of the earth, the colour of something reliable, strong and stable. It often turns brown and its shadows are visible to others.

Those who like to dress in brown are somewhat traditional, respect the elders and always seek peace, stability and strength. A girl in a brown dress or a man in a brown jacket gives the impression of a confident, intelligent and rational person.

Task 2

1. For questions 37-44, read the text below and think of the word that best fits each gap. Use only one word in each gap.

Are you studying too much?

It's the middle of the night. You're tired and hungry. But you're still at your desk, studying. Sound familiar? Many students study until late at night or early in the morning, but is it a good idea?

The answer is no. A lot of studies show that studying too (37)___ can be bad for your health, your memory, and your grades.

First of all, (38)___ you study all the time, you don't have time to relax and enjoy life. You need free time to do things you like, (39)___ as sports or music. Also, you need time to be with family and friends. If you don't have this time, you will feel stressed and unhappy. This isn't good for your mental or your physical health.

Second, when you are tired, you can't remember things very (40)____. After a good night's sleep, you usually remember things better than after a long period of studying. Also, if you take breaks when you study, you can remember more. For example, if you study (41)____ one hour, you might remember 60% of what you studied.

Finally, studying (42)____ much doesn't help you get better grades. In fact, it can make your grades worse. Sometimes you don't really learn anything new. You just read the same information (43)____ and over again. This is called 'passive learning'. It doesn't help you understand or remember things very well. It's better to study for shorter periods of time, but more often. This is called 'active learning'. Active learning helps you understand and remember things better. So, instead of studying all night (44)____ an exam, it's better to study for short periods of time every day for a week before the exam.
